Your next monitoring check is on 6/6/2000 8:00:00 AM. Your Guardian Interlock ™ ignition system will remind you that you are due to make an appointment three days before the due date with an indicator light on the control panel. If you have not had your system serviced within seven days of the due date, the system will shut down and you will be unable to start your car. It will be your responsibility to have your car towed to the Guardian Interlock Service Center.

Payments must be made in full before service is performed. If payment is not made, the System may shut down and you will be unable to start your car. This will result in a service call at your expense.
